

Michael Basko, 8, was stunned, his father, William Basko, said. He came home at noon yesterday in Minneapolis with his report card. He had failed to pass second grade at school. He was physically ill at lunch. His father did his best to cheer him up, got him to eat a little and sent him out to play. Later in the afternoon Michael was struck by a car. Hospital attendant comforts the boy before he was taken to the hospital. The attendants said that Michael was not injured seriously. He was normally a very cautious boy, his father said, but "this disappointment threw him off his guard." (UPI Telephoto)

Twp. Board Votes 'Get Tough' Policy On Tax Laggards

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night voted a "get tough" policy on laggards who fail to pay the township amusement tax.

Good Evening!

Moon mice fail to orbit.

Maybe somebody forgot to tell them about those acres of green cheese up there.

Chances are we'll find the little creatures joined up with the army of moles digging catacombs under the estate of the squirrel's nest—gray, that is.

All righty, turn to the Junior Reporter page today and see for yourself the Lower Bucks Senior King and Queen of 1959.

You'd have to see it to believe it—that mountain of mail representing votes from thousands of Courier-Times readers who, we think, did a mighty fine job of choosing.

Bristol Township commissioners cracking down on pinball and jukebox operators failing to pay the necessary tax.

As far as we're concerned, they can dump the pinballs into the Delaware. And unless somebody soon invents a muffler for them, the raucous music boxes, too.

How come they have to be so ear-splitting loud all the time?

One of the critical street and highway hazards of the day: all of these school youngsters hitchhiking.

They're taking their own lives into their hands, the lives of motorists on these heavily traveled highways and the day must come when Pennsylvania passes a law keeping all long-thumbers off the roads.

What is so rare as a day in June?

Nothing.

Said one bureaucrat to another: "So we made a blunder. Don't just stand there—label top secret and file it away!"

These days the vanishing American is the fellow who knows how to fix a gadget and shows up when he says he will.

Some people are easily entertained. All you have to do is to sit down and listen to them.

Be careful with the driving.

Car Plunges Off Route 1, Rams House

Miss Andress Kirby, sister of the Falls Township Police Chief, Franklin Kirby, was rudely jolted out of bed at 7 o'clock this morning when a car crashed against her house.

The automobile started plunging down an embankment from Route 1, 30 feet away before landing against the frame and shingled house on Trenton Road.

Patrolman Lyle Gass gave this account of the accident after the driver of the car refused to say anything except, "I won't talk until I see my lawyer."

Gass said the driver, Richard Kuschell, 38, of Birmingham, Mich., was driving on Route 1 towards Morrisville. Kuschell, identified by police as an attorney in Bristol as well as in Michigan, apparently lost control of his vehicle as he negotiated a turn along the highway.

The car plunged through three guard rails, rolled over, fell down the embankment and came to rest against Miss Kirby's home with a loud thud.

The house was slightly damaged and the car was a total wreck, police said. Miss Kirby was shaken up by the crash against her home but uninjured.

Chief Kirby said his sister lives alone in the house.

The driver of the car was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Delaware Valley Rescue Squad. Hospital officials said he was not seriously injured but was admitted for observation.

The driver was charged with reckless driving, driving without proper registration and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Assisting in the investigation are Patrolmen Ed Born, and James MacManamon.

Mafia Leader's Kin Convicted In N.Y.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gabriel Genovese, 64-year-old cousin of reputed Mafia leader Vito Genovese, was convicted Wednesday of being an undercover fight manager.

A general sessions jury deliberated less than two hours before finding Genovese guilty on two counts of unlicensed managing. He could receive two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Businessmen Lash 'Discomfort Index'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A group of businessmen attacked the weather bureau's new "discomfort index" yesterday as misleading, confusing, unfortunate, negative—and bad for the tourist business. Hardly anyone else was uncomfortable at the time, the index has been below the discomfort level almost every hour since its publication began, June 1. The high for the week was 73 at 6 p.m. yesterday, a figure at which somewhere between 10 and 50 per cent of the people were believed to be feeling somewhat sticky.

But that didn't cool off the protesters, who begged the bureau to forget the whole thing—or at least change the name and call it a "comfort index."

The board of directors of the Hotel Association of New York City petitioned the city's convention and visitors bureau to make the protest to the meteorological powers.

Travel agency executive Richard A. Goggin, telegraphed his protest direct to New York's Chief of the Bureau of Meteorology.

June Bright Weather Due In Lower Bucks

June will be blooming blue and bright for the next two days, the Weather Bureau at Trenton, promised today.

Fair skies are forecast for the next 48 hours with temperatures reaching 80 today, falling to 60 overnight and rising into the middle 80's tomorrow.

The discomfort index, the measure of the effect of heat and humidity, was a comfortable 64 this morning.

Yesterday's high temperature reading was 78 and this morning's low mark was 63.

Lucrative Awards Given At Delhaas

Thousands of dollars of scholarships were awarded to students of Delhaas High School in the traditional Award Night assembly last evening, June 3rd.

Criteria for the awards varied. Standardized achievement test results of College Entrance Boards and the National Merit Scholarship Examination were consulted. Character, personality traits and citizenship were questioned in interviews, on applications and evidence of well-rounded participation in activities of the school was stressed.

The highly coveted local scholarships of the Parent Teachers Association ($250) for two years, Bristol Township Teachers Association ($200), and the Fathers Association of Delhaas Joint Schools ($200) were awarded to Nancy Ferguson (P.T.A.); Joan Hamilton (B.T.T.A.) and Marie DiDonato and Curt Van Seiver (Fathers Association).

Drexel University Scholarships from the Board of Trustees of Drexel Institute and Vanderbilt University were offered to Allen Latofski and Louis Klein.

Latofski is to be in receipt of full tuition to Drexel for his first year as well as half tuition for his second and third years. Drexel recognized Latofski's academic achievement and also the fact that he is a former homeroom president, reporter for Fama Magazine and Key Club member of Delhaas High School. Parochial Schools Next Fall May Use Norristown Buses

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

For all practical purposes, the Neibauer Bus Company is out of business and the current labor dispute is threatening to keep it out.

A union official said yesterday that the Schuylkill Valley Lines, Norristown, will probably provide bus transportation for Levittown-Bristol area parochial schools next fall.

The official, Joseph Reilly, vice president of Local 282, Transport Workers Union, Bristol, indicated yesterday that many of the drivers who claim they have been locked out of work by the Neibauer buses will man the Schuylkill Valley buses next fall. School buses from Bristol Township and the Neshaminy Joint School District are transporting the parochial school children during the labor dispute emergency.

'Possibility' James J. A. Gallagher, Local 282 president, said that the Schuylkill company taking over the bus lines was a "possibility."

In late developments, the Interstate Commerce Commission has limited the L. and W. bus Co., Trenton from taking passengers across state lines.

The I.C.C. has not given the L. and W. company a temporary permit. The state Public Utilities Commission has.

The Trenton firm is now operating its buses only between Morrisville and Philadelphia and not going into either Trenton or Burlington.

Neibauer, who has sold two of his franchise to the Trenton firm, claims the Bristol union local went on strike Saturday. The union charges that Neibauer (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Discoverer III May Never Have Orbited

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—Air Force sources expressed extreme pessimism today about the fate of Discoverer III satellite and its four mice passengers.

"It is very, very doubtful that it went into orbit," said an official.

To succeed, scientists had to aim the huge seven-story rocket at such a precise angle that a two-degree error in any direction could have caused it to roar through the skies like a "super-intercontinental ballistic missile," officials said.

If that happened, Discoverer III and its black mice burned up in the heavy earth atmosphere like a blazing meteorite. It could have flown in excess of 6,000 miles before disintegrating.

Two other possibilities existed.

Power Failure Possible

A "complete, power failure" could have blacked out all of the satellite's radio transmissions even if it were in orbit. The breaking of several electrical couplings could cause such a failure.

Or it could be tumbling end over end like the first Discoverer did last April. The tumbling motion prevents transmission of vital data.

The 78-foot modified Thor missile 2g a Bell-Hustler second stage was blasted aloft at 4:09 p.m. e.d.t. Wednesday in what appeared to be perfect launching.

The second stage with its mice cargo and array of scientific measuring data ignited as planned.

Signals Heard 13 Minutes

But radio signals were received for only 13 minutes.

The last station to receive the vehicle's signals was a tracking ship 1,200 miles down the Pacific range shortly after blastoff. At that time all appeared well.

It was learned Discoverer III was speeding at almost 18,000 mile an hour velocity necessary for orbiting. It was 140 miles high and seemed about to go into a planned orbit which would have whirled it around the earth across the north and south poles.

McDonald Claims Steel Won't Bargain

NEW YORK (UPI)—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, today accused the steel industry of failure "to engage in collective bargaining."

He said the statement made Wednesday night by R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, that the steel workers had put up a trial balloon was "completely asinine."

Cooper denied Wednesday a report by United Press International that the steel companies might modify their wage freeze before the July 1 strike deadline.

Cooper said the report sounded like a "hopeful trial balloon sent up by the United Steelworkers on the eve of their executive board meeting."

The industry source quoted by UPI was in fact an official of one of the 12 companies involved in the joint wage negotiations.

In his denial, Cooper said the companies had made clear their intention to hold the line on employment costs this year.

McDonald said "this statement again confirms what we have been saying that the companies are not engaged in true collective bargaining."

McDonald made his remarks before entering a collective bargaining session with the industry. He will meet this afternoon with the union International Executive Board to discuss the contract deadlock.

It was believed McDonald would ask the board to summon the 171-man Wage Policy Committee of the union into special session, possibly to increase pressure on management and plan strike action.

The Wage Policy Committee also might be asked to approve the filing of formal charges with the National Labor Relations Board that the industry has failed to bargain in good faith.

About 500,000 workers in the basic steel industry could strike after June 30 if there is no settlement.

Walter Hits Art Exhibit 'Un-American'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Should it be "art for art's sake" at the American fair in Moscow this summer?

This was a debatable question today following charges by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) that 34 of the 67 artists whose work America is sending to Russia "have records of affiliation with Communist fronts and causes."

Walter, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, told the House Wednesday he couldn't see how the American people could stomach such "non-sense" much less foot the bill for it.

It was "repulsive," he said, that a government agency should "glorify" people "who stand for nothing this country represents and for everything it is opposed to."

Walter's speech touched off a flurry of comment.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) said: "How silly can we get?"

"About all this would do," he said, "is to take the Russians off the hook of world opinion over the Pasternak case. It's the U.S.S.R. which censors its artists. Let us not start."

The United States Information Agency (USIA), which handled arrangements for the art exhibit, fired back that the paintings were selected "without any attempt at censorship."

USIA said a four-man panel of private experts was told to pick the art works "solely on their merit... rather than the political views of the artists."

Walter said he knew this argument would come up as an answer to his protest.

"I am cognizant," he said, "of the liberal 'line' proclaiming the intrinsic esthetic value of 'art for art's sake,' irrespective of the background or design of the artist..."

But Walter said it was "poppycock" to think that displaying the art works in Russia would cause Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev "and his gang of international outlaws... (to)... cease being Communists dedicated to world revolution."

'Guts' Needed For Honesty, Not 'Chicken,' Says Judge

Bucks County President Judge Edward G. Biester yesterday gave a flexible prison sentence, and a new definition of the term "guts" to Wayne Huffman, 18, 118 Otter St., Bristol, for his part in stealing an automobile wheel last November.

Huffman pleaded guilty, and explained that he took off the wheel from the car of Tullytown Constable Carmen Barranza in the Levittown Shopping Center. The youth said he also removed the wheel lugs because his companions seemed to be "chicken."

"What we need," said Judge Biester, "is some courage to do what is right instead of this business about 'chicken.'"

"They don't understand that it takes more 'guts' to do what is right than what is wrong."

Huffman was sentenced to serve a week to 364 days in Bucks County Prison. An uncle, Edward Hobbs, who is active in youth work in Massachusetts, said he has arranged a probation plan for his nephew to follow there. Huffman said he will be married next month.

Huffman was arrested by Tullytown Police Chief John B. Waltevic.

Three other youths were arrested and previously taken to court. One went to juvenile court, one was fined $50 and the jury found another innocent.

Huffman is serving 364 days probation for a Yardley burglary, a sentence imposed Nov. 10, three days after the wheel theft.

Middletown Neighbors In Zoning Squabble

Russia May Give West Guarantee

GENEVA (UPI)—A high allied official said today Russia has shown signs it may be willing to give the Western powers a firm guarantee of their continued rights in West Berlin.

Such a development would be the first major break in the East-West foreign ministers conference which was called because of a Soviet demand that the Western allies get out of West Berlin.

The allied official reported the Soviet move only one day after President Eisenhower told a press conference that the summit meeting asked by the Soviets depended on such a gesture.

The West already had presented a five-point program on a Berlin truce and was trying to push it through before Soviet delaying tactics block a summit conference altogether.

Might Reduce Force

The high allied official also disclosed today that Britain, France and the United States might be willing to reduce the size of their 10,000-man Berlin garrison if they got a broader agreement underwriting their rights there.

The reports, from an unimpeachable source, disclosed signs that both sides were budging somewhat in an effort to reach an interim deal on Berlin and make a summit meeting possible.

An authoritative allied source said the possibility of offering Russia some token reduction in the Western forces had never been mentioned to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko or any other Russian.

But he said the Western foreign ministers have discussed the possibility among themselves. This idea could be considered only within the framework of a much broader discussion, presumably including Western guarantees in Berlin.

Without an agreement on Berlin there can be no summit conference. President Eisenhower made that clear at a press conference in Washington Wednesday. Observers feared any U.S. refusal to attend one might bring a split with Britain which wants one regardless of failure here.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were having two off-the-record meetings with Gromyko today — a restricted session in the afternoon at the Palais de Nations and a dinner tonight at the French villa.

A request was put out to the world's approximately half dozen radar stations capable of tracking a satellite, but there appeared to be little hope of making contact in this manner even if Discoverer III was orbiting.

Soap Box Derby Committee To Meet

A meeting of the Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby committee will be held tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the basement of Towne Pharmacy, Five Points, Levittown.

Included on tomorrow night's agenda will be the setup of committee activity, assignment of race day responsibility and arranging local prizes.

The tired annual LBC Derby, sponsored by the Courier-Times, will take place July 12 in Fairless Hills.

Load Of Hay Catches Fire

A box-car load of hay caught fire on a Pennsylvania Railroad Co. siding near Green Lane, Bristol, last night, but no serious damage resulted.

The car load was part of a train of box cars owned by Strates Shows, currently operating a carnival on Route 413 and Route 1, Middletown Township.

Flames soared high into the sky and could be seen for almost a mile away when the fire broke out about 11 p.m.

But the Strates Shows caravan included a fire car and, assisted by firemen from Consolidated, and Nos. 2, 3 and 6 Fire Companies, Bristol, put out the flames before any real damage was caused.

Dr. Still Explains Health Board Policies

Dr. Joseph W. Still, director of the Bucks County Department of Health, appeared at last night's meeting of the Langhorne Borough Council and explained the operations and policies of his department.

Langhorne Borough Solicitor Fred T. Bebbington said Dr. Still suggested that the borough abandon its health board, in favor of the county unit. This has been the policy followed by the county health board in recent months, in an effort to eliminate the various public health situations in the boroughs and townships, treating them from a central office.

Bebbington said no action was taken on the matter last night.

In other business, Langhorne Burgess George C. Mather was authorized to attend the State Borough's Association Convention in Philadelphia, June 14-17.

Elvis Can't Rock—He's Got Tonsillitis

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The golden throat which made Elvis Presley a rich man was making him miserable today. He had tonsillitis.

The loose-hipped rock 'n' roll singer was admitted to the 97th General Hospital here yesterday with a 102-degree fever.

Army physicians said his tonsils were sore and inflamed, but there was no immediate word on whether they would have to come out.

The initial examinations indicated his case was not serious.

Post Office Taking Mail Messenger Bids

Postmaster John Barron, of the Cornwells Post Office, said bids are being received for mail messenger service between the Post Office and the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in Cornwells Heights.

The mail messenger position will be awarded on a contact basis, he said.

Bid forms are available from Barron at the Post Office, the postmaster said, and from the office of the distribution and traffic manager, Post Office Department, Box 7957, Philadelphia 1, Pa.

Bids must be received before 11 a.m. Monday, June 15, Barron said.

Mr. Gant Missing

Mr. Gant is among the missing.

Folks at the new Bristol Playhouse are mighty concerned about it.

You see, Mr. Gant is a "professional cat," the only feline in the area who knows several roles for the forth-coming shows this season.

Mr. Gant's whereabouts have been unknown since Monday morning. He is a yellow-orange striped tiger cat, and when last seen, was wearing the last word in a red leather collar.

Folks at the playhouse say two tickets for "Light Up The Sky," starring Denise Darcel, will be awarded to the finder of this stellar beast.

If you find Mr. Gant, playhouse spokesmen said, call Miss Marcia Leigh at the theater box office.

Another tax levied by the township on vending machines is now being considered by the Bucks County Court. No taxes will be collected on the vending machine until the court decides if the ordinance is valid.

In other business at a conference session of the commissioners last night, Bowen suggested that commissioners change their meeting night from the second Wednesday to the third Wednesday of each month.

The manager said this would allow the commissioners to obtain monthly reports and business agenda at least one week before the monthly meeting.

"The board will be able to act a little more deliberately on issues if they have all the data well in advance," the manager said. A township ordinance will have to be drawn up to change the meeting night.

The board also authorized Bowen to meet with Bensalem Township Manager William Sommers to formulate joint policy on a State request that the townships pay for street lighting on the proposed Delaware Expressway.

The board objected to paying for lights since most of the users of the highway will not be local residents but through traffic.

Bristol union "physically and financially."

In the meantime, the Bristol union plans to initiate a courtesy car services from Morrisville to Philadelphia today. Six cars at a time will be used to pick up commuters.

Union president Gallagher said no fare will be charged and P.U.C. permission is not necessary. Gallagher said the plan has been okayed by local police departments.

Reilly, who charges he was knocked down during an argument with Neibauer last Saturday, was felled again yesterday when Mrs. Joseph Layton, wife of the co-owner of the L. and W. firm, backed her car into him.

The union vice president was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital with possible bad injuries after the accident.

Mrs. Layton told police she did not see Reilly. She had gone to the Torresdale bus terminal to bring lunch to her son, Edward, whose bus was being delayed by pickets.

Mrs. Layton said she was confused by the pickets, backed up her car and then heard the pickets yelling for hed to stop.

Bus Line Authorized For Abandoned Routes

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Two Trenton, N.J., men have been authorized to start operating bus routes abandoned by the defunct County Transit last Feb. 2 between Philadelphia, Bucks and Montgomery counties.

The Public Utility Commission yesterday approved requests by John P. Hoschek and his son, John, to begin initial operations with seven buses. The main route is between Fox Chase and Glenside, via Rockledge, Hollywood, McKinley, Jenkintown, North Hills and Ardley.

The Hoscheks were also authorized to run chartered buses for excursions and group trips.

Decision By Supervisors Is Postponed

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier-Times Staff Writer
Nearly 100 residents of the Woodbourne section of the Middletown Township are involved in a bitter neighborhood squabble over a proposed delicatessen store.

The opposing neighbors clashed for the fourth time last night at a special meeting of the Middletown Township Supervisors. The previous three clashes were at meetings of the township planning commission.

After an hour and half of vigorous debate by the residents, the township supervisors voted to postpone a decision until their June 10 meeting.

Now Zoned Residential
Martin and Miriam Malkasian are asking for a zoning variance that will enable them to establish a small store at Second and Woodbourne Road, now zoned for residential use only.

Members of the township planning commission divided their votes on the zoning request last week.

The Malkasians assert the small store is needed in the area, but their opponents charge that a nearby shopping center is adequate for the needs of the residents.

More than one of the residents declared last night that they objected to the Malkasian request because the Malkasians had shacks on their property. Mrs. Malkasian said the shacks are not being used for anything.

Boost Manager's Salary
In other action taken last night, the supervisors voted to increase the salary of Township Manager Charles Melchior from the current $7,500 to $8,500.

The supervisors also postponed action on a request by John and Ellen Novalsky for permission to erect a five - store shopping center on Route 413, near Frosty Hollow Road.

The planning commission has opposed the Novalsky request because their is another shopping center within a half to three-quarter mile area.

Erection of flashing warning signals near the Queen of the Universe Parochial School was approved last night by the supervisors. The township and the school will split the costs of the project.

Businessmen

Weatherman, Ernest J. Christie, Goggin said he had discussed the problems with large and small businessmen who believe they "will be severely harmed by the negative effect of a daily report labeled 'discomfort index.' I urge you to change it or discontinue it at once."

The weather bureau said all complaints were being relayed to Washington.

And if it's any comfort to the businessmen, New York hasn't been singled out to be labeled with discomfort—the readings are available for about half the cities in the country.

W. Bristol Widow Hurt In Crash

A 70-year-old West Bristol widow was injured in an automobile accident at Route 13 and Green Lane about 1:35 p.m., today.

Hospital officials identified the victim as Mrs. Alma Linebach, of Broadway and Monroe, West Bristol.

She was rushed to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Bucks County Rescue Squad. She is being treated for a bad bump over her eye, hospital officials said. Mrs. Linebach also is complaining of pains in the rib area. Extent of her injuries wasn't immediately known. The accident tied up traffic at the intersection. Details of the accident weren't immediately available.

2 Men Committed To Bucks Prison

Falls Township Justice of the Peace John Melvin yesterday committed George P. Pfommer, 33, no home, to Bucks County prison for 39 days for vagrancy.

has made a contribution to the community with his "sports reporting" on a weekly radio program (WBCB).

Lou Klein has received a Grant-in-Aid full scholarship for tuition fees, books and laundry to Vanderbilt. Klein's coaches in the athletic department had Vanderbilt recognize his strength in basketball and other athletics as well as his academic record.

Corporation Scholarships were awarded by the General Motors Institute Cooperative Engineering Training and Food Fair Foundation to Stephen Hattenbach and Joan Ross.

Hattenbach is also active on the Delhaas High School magazine staff.

Joan Ross is to be in receipt of $250 for the first year and a total of $2000 available as a loan for the other years from Food Fair Foundation.

The Engineering Program of The Naval Air Development Center has awarded scholarships to Donald Walizer and Richard Pariseau.

Donald Walizer plans to attend Pennsylvania State University. He attributes most of his sense of responsibility for serious study to his parents.

Parents

Richard Pariseau emphasizes that his parents gave him the desire to learn and his teachers knowledge of English, social studies, science, mathematics, and foreign languages have been a source of inspiration to him. He has been active on the chess, golf, and debating teams. The Temple Speech Festival and the school radio station (WDHS), interested him greatly.

Jane Kaminski, senior student, Joan Horn and Katherine Ermolosh, 11th graders, were awarded art scholarships by the New York Phoenix School of Design and the Moore Institute of Art.

Jane Kaminski will be in receipt of $150 to study dress designing. She submitted drawings to compete for her scholarship. She attributes success in the competition to the guidance of her art teacher. She plans a trip to New York in the near future with her parents to make further plans for matriculation in the New York Phoenix School.

Joan Horn looks forward to attending the Saturday morning classes at Moore Institute next year while completing the 12th grade at Delhaas. Both Miss Horn and Miss Ermolosh have selected the art general course in Delhaas High School next year because the ten periods a week allotted to art will give them more experience. Both juniors feel indebted to the experiences they had in art work in junior high school. They are also active on the year book and newspaper staffs.

The Masonic Order Scholarship of $300 was awarded to Joseph Lovett for his oratorical contest work. He feels very indebted to the teachers who helped him win. He has also been active on the junior class planning committee, debating club and Key Club.

Nursing

Joanne Brightman was awarded the Soroptimist Nursing Scholarship of $100 for each of three years. Her application is the result of two years' consideration of the possibilities of nursing as a career. She has been most active in debating, forensics and other speaking activity. She writes for Fama and has done public information work for the school.

Steel Executive To Head UF Drive

Thomas E. Coe, president of the United Services Federation, today announced the appointment of Frank A. Burns as chairman for Lower Bucks County in next fall's United Fund campaign.

Burns is public relations representative of the Fairless Works, United States Steel Corporation.

As chairman for the Lower Bucks United Fund campaign, he assumes command of a corps of several thousand volunteer workers now being enlisted on behalf of 20 Bucks County health, welfare and recreation agencies that have discontinued their separate appeals to share in the single annual campaign of the United Fund.

The U. S. Steel executive has been director of public relations in the corporation's Pacific-Southwest District in Los Angeles, later, in charge of the field office at Fairless Works, the largest fully integrated steel plant ever built at one time. Burns functioned as liaison representative with the company's Philadelphia District office.

A native of San Francisco, Burns received his early education there and later attended the University of California. He was a reporter and sports writer on the San Francisco Call-Bulletin from 1931 to 1937 and for the next two years, a reporter on the San Francisco Chronicle. He was employed by the Santa Fe Railway in San Francisco as public relations representative before joining United States Steel as assistant to the director of public relations for Columbia Steel Company in San Francisco in 1942.

Burns has held several volunteer posts with the Bucks County United Fund campaign since his arrival here five years ago.

When the war ended the couple went to England to live. They stayed there about two years and came to the United States with their young son in 1947.

Mrs. Challis wasn't 21 when Raymond was born so the boy had his choice of choosing British or American citizenship. He chose his mother's country.

Raymond's father, Albert, is a plumber for the Reading Railroad. The boy is an eighth grader in the Queen of the Universe School. He began the citizenship proceedings about six months ago. And the other day, all the paper work was cleared up. He was called down to the court building.

He told the officials of his schooling, of his desire to be a citizen and of his allegiance to the United States of America.

"I will fight for this country if I have to," he said.

There is a world of difference in becoming an American by choice than by the lucky chance of birth. Raymond Challis, 14, of 73 Queen Lilly Road, Quincy Hollow, Levittown, is an American today. By choice, not chance.

The young Levittowner was born in England shortly after World War II. His father was a member of His Majesty's Royal Navy. His mother was a Bryn Mawr girl who met her husband when he was in Philadelphia while his ship was

L. Makefield Scouts To Be Feted At Banquet

300 Expected To Attend At Rock Run

More than 300 persons will attend the sixth annual banquet of Lower Makefield Girls Scouts. The affair will be held on Tuesday to honor three area girls who will attend the International Girl Scout Roundup in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Honored will be Dianne Wagner, Frances Rorer and Karen Leary. The girls will receive more than $100 in money and gifts at the banquet at 6:30 p.m. at Rock Run, Route 1.

Arrangements for the banquet were made by Mrs. Evan Scott, Mrs. Henry Hoffmeister, Jr. and Mrs. Gordon Leary.

Guest speaker at the affair will be Mrs. Patricia Gover, district director of girl scouting, Doylestown. The three girls preparing for the trip will also give a talk on scouting at the roundup.

Additional talks will be made by members of Girl Scout Troop 172. The girls, Karen Lutz, Charlotte Coy and Barbara Dietrick, will speak on senior scouting activities.

The three girls will leave for Colorado on June 30 and will travel by train to Chicago for a one day tour of the city. They will take a special train which will eventually arrive in Chicago with a total of 2,000 girls scouts on board.

From Chicago, the train will take the girls to Colorado Springs, at the foot of Pikes Peak where they will join more than 7,500 girl scouts from all over the world. They will return home on July 15.

Gifts donated to the girls were obtained through the sponsorship of the Lower Makefield Women's Club, and area girl scouts. Each girl will also receive a shoulder bag contributed by Mrs. C.H. Rogers.

Senior Party Set Tonight

The Morrisville Senior High School Class of 1959 will hold a party at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium. The affair is open to students of the senior class and teachers of the high school only, it was announced. Richard Lee is the class advisor.

Arrangements for the party were made by the executive committee of the senior class.

The program for the evening includes: the reading of the class will and prophecy; a showing of color slides of the class's Washington trip; vaudeville entertainment and dancing. Refreshments will be served.

Long Recovery Seen For Gov. Long

GALVESTON, Tex. UPI—Dr. Titus Harris said last night Gov. Earl Long of Louisiana will recover from his mental illness in time, but branded as "absurd" reports he could recover in three months.

Dr. Harris, a prominent psychiatrist, has charge of Long's case at John Sealy Hospital. He said the governor has started "cooperating reluctantly" with efforts to treat his mental condition, but Long "still doesn't think he is sick."

Probate Judge Hugh Gibson was expected to set a date today for a hearing on whether the Louisiana chief executive should be ordered by Texas courts to undergo 90 days of mental treatment. He said the hearing would probably be set for June 15 or 16.

Gibson signed an order Tuesday committing the governor to the hospital for 14 days of mental treatment at the request of Long's family.

The order said Long was "dangerous" to himself and others. Lt. Gov. Letha Frazier, acting governor while Long is absent, said in Baton Rouge yesterday afternoon he was misquoted earlier in a story saying there was a possibility Long might not be able to complete the remaining 10 months of his term.

18 Inches Of Hail Hits Kansas City

By United Press International

Highway crews hauled snow plows from summer hibernation Wednesday night to clear roads in the Selden, Kan., area blocked by an 18-inch hail storm.

The heavy ice accumulation crushed roofs and a combination of rain and melting hail flooded basements of homes and businesses. There were no reports of injuries.

The town of Selden, with a population of about 360 in northwest Kansas, was isolated until highway crews plowed open one way traffic late at night.

Old Bristol School To Be Demolished

Bristol Borough School Board is completing plans for the demolition of the abandoned 1837 school building on Wood St., Bristol, one of the oldest existing school buildings in Bucks County.

The building has been considered unsafe for school use for some time. There was some talk that the building might be taken over by a historical society but nothing came of this.

The school board will advertise for bids to destroy the old building.

The borough school board voted this week to name Mrs. Ida Runyan, now a second grade teacher at the Harriman school, as reading teacher for junior high school classes. The reading teacher is a new state requirement.

The board members have accepted the resignation of Mrs. Susan Gibbs, a second grade teacher at the Jefferson Avenue School for two years.

Special classes for slow-learning pupils is being considered for the borough schools.

The school board is studying proposal to introduce Italian as a foreign language course in the high school. Also under consideration for language study is German.

The school committee will hold a meeting Monday to consider the language study courses and the in-service training program for teachers next year.

Troilo Hits Statement By Sawyer

A recent statement, released to the press by Morrisville Councilman John V. Sawyer, was in "poor taste," Democratic Committeeman, Francis A. Troilo said today.

Troilo referred to a statement by Sawyer, in which he (Sawyer) said that Michael Demech, Democratic fourth ward nominee for councilman, was a hand-picked tool of Pat Tanzillo, of the Italian-American Club.

Troilo also announced today that the Democratic Club had unanimously endorsed Demech as a candidate for fourth ward councilman.

"Sawyer's recent newspaper article placing the blame for a one vote loss on others in his ward, was in poor taste. He should have congratulated the winner and kept quiet," said Troilo.

He added that, "no loser should vent his feelings in the newspaper because in politics there is always a loser for every winner."

Troilo commented that, "the party had nothing to do with Sawyer's statement to the press. He and I are good friends and I certainly hope that he and all fourth ward Democrats will vote for Demech."
